

STRATEGIES AND TACTICS TO TURN YOUR WEBSITE INTO A SALES MACHINE

IMMIPRENEUR

THE PRIMARY GOAL OF ANY WEBSITE IS TO INCREASE SALES. WHILE STEADY TRAFFIC AND CLICK-THROUGHS ARE GREAT, YOU WANT PEOPLE TO MAKE A PURCHASE OR TAKE THE NEXT STEP.

TO BOOST ENGAGEMENT AND CONVERSIONS WHEN PEOPLE LAND ON YOUR WEBSITE, YOU'LL NEED THE RIGHT STRATEGIES.

There have been many advantages of the digital age, but attention span is definitely not one of them. Since the rise of smartphones, the average attention span of human beings has fallen by four seconds (from twelve seconds to eight seconds). Now, even goldfish can pay attention for longer. If the average person can only stay focused for eight seconds at a time, what does that mean for entrepreneurs?

Making a bad first impression can be the difference between attracting new business or losing out on an opportunity. With your competition only being a click away online, it's important that your website immediately capture, keep and leverage the attention of your ideal customers when they land on your website instead of your competitors.

In order to do that, first ask yourself: How much time are users spending on your website? How many pages are they checking out? What pages are they checking out? Are they clicking on your calls-to-action? And most importantly, what percentage of visitors is performing the desired action on your site?

IN THIS MASTERCLASS YOU WILL BE LEARNING THE STRATEGIES AND TACTICS TO TURN YOUR WEBSITE INTO A SALES MACHINE.

KNOWING YOUR IDEAL CUSTOMER

We discussed the importance of knowing who your Ideal Customer is so your content is tailored for everything they're looking for. But this can be daunting and it might even be hard knowing where to start. But after years of creating Dream Client Profiles, I created an exercise to help with the process.

I firmly believe creating a story about your Ideal Client is the easiest way to make him/her a real person in your mind. Sure, it might feel silly, but once you're confident in your Dream Client Profile, you'll soon be attracting your dream clients...all because you're talking to him/her in a way they love about the things they love.

THE STORY

In this workbook, you'll find a series of sentences you'll fill in according to what fits for your business. The more sentences you answer, the more complete your story will be.

TESTIMONIAL QUESTIONS AND PREP EMAIL:

There's no denying that done right, a testimonial will sell your offer or product for you. I mean, think about it this way... If you were on the fence about hiring a personal trainer, a copywriter, or an at-home chef, would you rather they tell you how incredible they are... Or would you be more intrigued and compelled to work with them if they had a bunch of glowing testimonials singing their praises? I think we'd all prefer the latter. The same goes for you, your service, or your product if you're looking to turn your audience members into raving life-long customers. Use the email template below as a guide for the questions you'll ask them in an interview. And then be sure to send this to them a week or a few days prior to your interview to help them prep. Remember to tweak these plug-&-plays and make them your own. They are simply a starting point for you to begin gathering and crafting testimonials that will have your ideal customer avatar sprinting to work with you!
